Take the CTA Blue Line train at O'Hare and exit at Washington. When you exit the train, walk to your left and up the escalator. Once you are up on the platform, walk to the right through the glass doors toward the CTA Red Line train. You will be walking through Block 27 Shops. At the end of Block 27 Shops you will go through another set of double glass doors. Go down the stairs or take the elevator CTA Red Line train platform. Once on the platform, take the CTA Red Line train toward Howard and exit on Chicago.

Take CTA Orange Line train from Midway, there should be a bridge/pathway that connects the airport to the train station. Take the train going towards the Loop, there will be screens above the platform, when lit green it indicates that you may board those carts. Exit at Roosevelt and take the stairs/escalator, located towards the middle of the platform, down. There will be signs near the stairs that will say ‘Red Line Subway’. This is a good indication that you are going the right way. After the first set of stairs, continue straight, past the Ventra scan-in area. Proceed down the second set of stairs, which will adjust left and bring you to a tunnel decorated with pictures related to the museum. Continue straight until you have reached another set of stairs and escalators on your right side, leading downwards. Go down this final set of stairs and stay to the right of the platform. Take the train going towards Howard and exit at the Chicago stop.
